BASIS FOR THE COLLECTION

This collection is based on durability. I've set forth guidelines for each piece in this collection in order to ensure that each piece last as long as possible. These include: two centimeter seam allowance (where possible) in order to make the garment more adjustable but also to combat fraying over time. The seams are finished almost exclusively with bias tape to enclose the raw edge of the fabric, the seams not bound by bias tape are finished with a three needle overlock using bulky gütermann thread. The garments are sewn together with gütermann miniking no. 120 thread 100% polyester. The materials in this collection is carefully chosen for their qualities and weight, the garments are made to last, and the materials are chosen for their properties in order to combat pilling. The only fabric that is not woven in a pure fibre is the denim, it is a blend of cotton and polyester, this is a concious choise in order to enhance durability, and help the styles hold their shape better over time. The trim chosen for this collection is almost exclusively brass hardware and high quality zips.
